

Video Production

At Inclusive Digital we deliver innovative, cost-effective video production for businesses, professional organisations, and charities - from high-end documentaries through to fast turn-around promotional videos.

We provide the full production package: planning and scripting, presenting, filming, editing, graphics, animation and online distribution.

We can produce a wide range of video styles, including corporate, information, promotional, interview and online videos. We can also do podcasts and audio recordings.

Inclusive Digital is a London-based digital production company that has been in business since 2007. We specialise in website development, video production, event filming, eLearning platforms, and live streaming.

We're highly experienced – and have a reputation for being reliable and professional.

Our packages include:

Planning – we liaise with the client about filming requirements, the schedule, and locations.

Filming – we use high-end equipment (including Sony PXW HD cameras, OsmoPro stabiliser cameras, Sennheiser microphones, and Dedolight/LED lighting).

Editing – we edit the video on Adobe Premiere Pro, including, as required, music and commentary. For graphics, we use Adobe After Effects.

Review – the client can review our initial edit via our online server, before the final edit is completed and delivered.

Distribution – we have expertise in online video distribution, and can provide cost-effective streaming solutions.

We work with a growing number of companies and organisations, including professional membership organisations, charities, agencies, and UK and international firms.

Our client list includes the MCC Cricket Foundation, the Royal Society of Medicine, the Animal Welfare Foundation, the Royal College of Radiologists, the Local TV Network, and the National Jazz Archive.
